EAGLE UPDATE

As you may know, both our Point Aquarius Eaglets fell from their nest in March. All the rain weakened their nest, a hole developed and they fell through before they were able to fly. They were rescued by Lone Star Wildlife Rescue. They were nursed back to health, then transferred to Last Chance Forever in San Antonio. They are doing well and growing. They will be returned when they can fly. A donation was taken up. It was divided between the two organizations who have cared for our beloved birds.
