CEDAR WAXWING

Recently I've been seeing flocks of cedar waxwings in our area. They are named for the waxy red tips on their secondary wing feathers, but the purpose of the waxy secretions is unknown. These crested birds have pale yellow to lemon-colored bellies and a matching band of yellow at the tip of their square tail. A black mask edged in white extends from its beak and surrounds its eyes. The rest of the bird's plumage is gray to brown.

These birds specialize in fruit-eating during the winter months. Cedar berries are the most popular food source, but other fruits are also consumed. They pluck berries while perching, hanging upside down, or briefly hovering in midair.

THOUGHTS FOR THE DAY

Always bear in mind that your own resolution to succeed is more important than any one thing.

Somewhere, someone else is happy with less than you have.

Never complain, never explain. Resist the temptation to defend yourself or make excuses.

One small positive thought in the morning can change the entire outcome of your day!

Today, wherever you go, carry the intention of peace, love, and harmony in your heart.
