A Journey in Point Aquarius

Our Move to Point Aquarius

In 2001, my wife Helen and I made the decision to move to Point Aquarius. We settled into the blue house on Pegasus, which has since become our home. This move marked the beginning of our involvement and connection with the community.

My Service and Involvement in Point Aquarius

My commitment to the Point Aquarius community began in 2006, when I was elected to serve on the Architectural Control Committee (ACC). I spent four years working on the committee, and in my fourth year, 2010, I was elected to the Board. I served as a Board member for seven years, contributing to the ongoing development and well-being of the neighborhood. After stepping away for a period, I returned to community service in 2019. With no candidates willing to serve on the ACC at that time, I decided to step in and was elected to a one-year term. Once again, in 2023, faced with a shortage of volunteers, I chose to run for the ACC and completed a three-year term.

Looking Forward

Serving on the ACC has been a rewarding experience for me. I am grateful for the opportunity to contribute and look forward to continuing my involvement and service within the Point Aquarius community.
